Gypsy Horse Conformation

General Appearance and Impression- The first glance impression of the breed is that of a small, powerful, well balanced and muscular draft type horse with good bone and a sturdy body. The image is enhanced with abundant mane, tail and feathering from the knees to the ground. An important breed quality is the presence that reflects a gentle, cooperative, willing animal with a kind and intelligent eye. Muscling is balanced throughout the body. Any height is acceptable, each horse will be judged based on the breed standard, regardless of height.

1. Head - The head should be characteristically pleasant and in proportion to body size reflecting gender.
2. Ears - The length and width of the ear should be proportional to the head. The originating placement of the ear should be with a slight forward slant. A mare's ears tend to be a bit longer than the stallion, whose ears are short and shapely. The ears contribute to the overall image of the horse.

3. Eyes – The horses have expressive eyes that convey kindness and intelligence. The eyes must be prominent and set well apart. The eye should be large in its external structure and appearance. The color of the eyes will vary according to the color and color pattern of the horse. Partial white, blue, and dark color combinations are acceptable, along with white sclera.
4. Jaw/Bite - The point where the central incisors meet must be equal and even as viewed from the side. A slight deviation is possible without fault if the teeth vary no more than one half of the width of the tooth's surface. The slight deviation could occur with either the upper or the lower jaw. The accuracy of the bite may vary according to age.
5. Neck - The neck should rise upward from a well sloped shoulder. The upper neckline (crest) should be arched and well muscled in the mare and stallion demonstrating power, strength and flexibility. The underline of the neck should be inwardly rounded following a parallel line created by the arch of the upper neckline (crest) from wither to poll, while the underline tapers into a clean throatlatch.
6. Shoulders – The horses have deep, well sloped, powerful shoulders covered with sufficient muscling while allowing the horse to have full ability to perform as a powerful athlete.
7. Withers - Should be well muscled.
8. Body - The overall impression of the horse's body is one of harmony and muscular proportionality. The deep body must convey the image of an athletically muscled horse, with smooth round muscles. The amount and size of bone should be substantial.
9. Back and Coupling Loin- The topline of the horse must be short coupled, well muscled and tie in strongly at the loin, with slight curvature allowing the horse the ability to become round, flexible through the middle upper body.
10. Chest - The chest must be viewed from the front, with prominent, well developed powerful pectoral muscles appearing in an inverted "V" shape. There should be sufficient separation of the forelegs for correct movement of the forelimbs at all gaits.
11. Legs – The legs should be straight, correct, clean, plumb and true with substantial bone and feather. Rear legs may have a "set" to them, set closer together from the hock to the fetlock, dropping straight from the hock to the fetlock due to the draft heritage of the breed.
12. Hindquarters – Smooth and round across the mid line of the croup, with a long hip and gentle slope, with a tail set high on a powerful hindquarter. When viewed from the back the hindquarters must be round, wide, and reflect powerful athletic ability.
13. Hair – Long, flowing, and thick mane and tail. The forelock should be full and long. There should be abundant feather starting at the knees and hocks, running down the front as well as the back of the leg. They may have a beard, mustache, whiskers, and muzzle hairs. These are often trimmed or removed in preparation for competition in the show ring. Either method not to be penalized.
14. Coat color – They may be any color, either solid or patterned.

Gaits

1. Walk is a natural forward flowing four beat gait. The pride of the breed is expressed in the head and neck carriage, being elevated in the movement, alert with presence.
2. Trot is a natural forward, free-flowing two beat diagonal gait. The horse has an animated style of movement. Some yearlings may show a lateral pace with the excitement of the show.
3. Canter is a natural flowing three beat gait to be smooth, free moving, relaxed and correct on both leads
4. Hand Gallop is a faster three beat gait with a lengthened stride, controlled, straight, and correct on both leads.

5. Back – horses should back on command, quietly, willingly, and easily in a straight line without resistance.
6. At the judge's discretion, considering the size and ability of the class, horses may be asked to extend any gait. Junior exhibitors exhibiting in a Junior class will not be asked to extend gaits. Novice and Green Horse classes will not be asked to extend gaits.
